

WASARA is elegant yet sustainable,
compostable tableware

Tableware for the present moment

Underlying the spirit of WASARA is the legacy of the Japanese aesthetic and values. Comfortable and stable in your hands, the style and texture of WASARA clearly distinguish it from other disposable tableware. Japan has a tradition of incomparable manufacturing backed by reliable skills and technique, one of the most refined food cultures in the world, and a spirit of hospitality and attention to detail. While WASARA tableware is by design ephemeral, it represents the essence of Japanese tradition and spirit.

Japanese Creative Tradition

It is a common practice in Japan to select tableware that best suits each ingredient or cuisine. Among the world's food cultures, no other nation cares as much about its choice of tableware. So that you can enjoy your meal with all your senses, we present WASARA tableware. These forms add beauty to a casual gathering and create a rich and warm atmosphere.

Earth Conscious

As is the fate of all single-use tableware, a piece of WASARA can serve its purpose only once. Yet it is designed to minimize environmental burden. WASARA is made from 100% renewable, tree-free materials, specifically, bamboo and bagasse (a by-product of the sugar refining process), and totally compostable.
